

Jeremiah is a Minnesota native with over two decades of performance and teaching experience across hip-hop, jazz, lyrical, show choir, and cheer. Known for his positive spirit, joyful presence, and high-energy approach, Jeremiah creates an engaging and supportive environment where students feel confident, motivated, and seen. A certified fitness instructor, he brings strength, athleticism, and body awareness into his classes and choreography.

Jeremiah has choreographed and performed for studios and schools, competitions, and both celebrity and local artists, bringing his creative vision to a wide range of stages and audiences. His work is visually strong and dynamic, blending musicality, precision, and powerful staging that truly shines on stage. He has performed extensively with companies including Sole to Soul Dance Conversion (S2SDC), Enticing Entertainment, and Hey Sugar! Productions. He has graced stages big and small and continues to make recurring performances at Chanhassen Dinner Theater. Jeremiah is also deeply involved in Pride events and community celebrations, using dance to uplift, connect, and celebrate diversity.

Jeremiah is also the owner and director of JLW Productions, curating memorable, immersive experiences for performers and audiences alike. Loved by students and audiences, his passion, charisma, and authenticity make him as impactful off stage as he is under the lights.
